

THE EVENING CRITIC.

ESTABLISHED AUGUST 1868.

TEMPERANCE ELOQUENCE.

Address by Mrs. Chapin, of Charleston.

One was reminded of the scenes of the National Convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of last year by the crowded audience awaiting Mrs. Chapin, of Charleston, at Foundry M. E. Church, last night.

Mrs. Clara L. Beach, president of the District of Columbia Union, presided. The choir, under the leadership of Mr. Frank Wilson, sang some very beautiful hymns. Mrs. Chapin, of Charleston, was introduced by Mrs. Beach, and Mrs. Chapin, of Maryland, participated in the opening service. Mrs. Chapin, who is a native of Charleston, S. C., and a member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, addressed the audience in a most eloquent and powerful manner. She spoke of the horrors of intemperance, and of the suffering and ruin it brings upon the human race. She urged upon the audience the necessity of abstaining from the use of alcoholic liquors, and of supporting the temperance cause.

Mrs. Chapin's address was well received, and she was warmly applauded. She concluded her address with a fervent prayer for the success of the temperance cause. The audience then sang a hymn, and the service closed. Mrs. Chapin's address was a most successful one, and it is hoped that it will have a beneficial effect upon the minds of the audience.

National Arbitration League.

Governor Stanton presided at the meeting last evening held at the residence of Mr. P. Church, the pastor, the Rev. James T. Lasee, opened the meeting with prayer, invoking the Divine blessing on the efforts of the organization to institute other means than war to adjust differences between nations. By request the secretary read the declaration of principles and preamble to the constitution of the league, which was adopted. The secretary then read a list of the names of the members of the league, which included many of the prominent citizens of the city. The meeting then adjourned.

Minnehaha Lodge of Good Templars.

The meeting of the Minnehaha Lodge of Good Templars, held last evening at the residence of Mr. P. Church, was well attended. The lodge officers reported a successful meeting of the lodge, and the members expressed their confidence in the lodge's ability to carry out its duties. The meeting then adjourned.

The Coming Fair at the Capitol.

There was no diminution in the amount of visitors transacted at the headquarters at the Capitol House last night. The Connecticut board of commissioners completed its organization by the election of Colonel Redford Durfee as chairman and Hon. Henry C. Johnson as secretary. The board then adjourned.

East Washington Enterprise.

One of the most interesting features of the East Washington Enterprise, which is now being published, is the fact that it is a purely local paper. It is owned and managed by a local citizen, and its content is entirely devoted to the interests of the community. The paper is well received, and it is hoped that it will have a beneficial effect upon the minds of the community.

Illness of J. P. Kegerreis.

The many warm and sympathetic friends of Comrade J. P. Kegerreis, of Lincoln Post, No. 3, G. O. P., will learn with regret that he still remains a great sufferer from an acute and distressing malady, which has afflicted him for many months past. He is also much concerned in mind by reason of his inability to attend to his duties, and his friends are doing all in their power to assist him.

Attention! To the Oriole Pageant via the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad.

The grand Oriole pageant in Baltimore this evening will well repay a visit to the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad. The pageant is a most interesting and beautiful one, and it is hoped that it will have a beneficial effect upon the minds of the community. The pageant is now being held at the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad, and it is hoped that it will have a beneficial effect upon the minds of the community.

A Very Handsome Chromo presented to every purchaser at the grand closing of Hahn's new-colored chromos, 510 Seventh street, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with the largest stock in the District. The chromos are of the most beautiful and interesting nature, and they are offered at a very low price. It is hoped that they will be well received.

Death of Colonel Travers.

Information was received here to-day announcing that on Tuesday night last Colonel Joseph Travers, owner and proprietor of Finney Hotel, died at that place. Colonel Travers was a well-known citizen of the city, and his death is a great loss to the community. He was a member of the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad, and he was a most successful business man.

The Color Question.

William White and David Bolivar, both of whom are almost white, passed each other on the street last evening, and while they were passing, White turned back and said to Bolivar, "You are a colored man, and I am a white man, and we are both of the same race." Bolivar replied, "Yes, we are both of the same race, and we are both of the same color." This incident has caused much discussion, and it is hoped that it will have a beneficial effect upon the minds of the community.

Hard to Beat.

Mr. William McGowan, the Washington pigeon shot, last Monday morning killed ninety-four birds without a miss, and got ninety-one in the bonus. He was a most successful pigeon shot, and his record is a most remarkable one. He is a member of the Washington Pigeon Shooting Club, and he is a most successful business man.

Grand Oriole pageant passes Calvert-street station.

The grand Oriole pageant, which is now being held at the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad, has just passed Calvert-street station. The pageant is a most interesting and beautiful one, and it is hoped that it will have a beneficial effect upon the minds of the community. The pageant is now being held at the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad, and it is hoped that it will have a beneficial effect upon the minds of the community.

ANOTHER HOMICIDE.

Valentine Dingle Dies From the Effect of a Blow Administered by Robert Williams—The Inquest To-day.

Mention was made on Tuesday last of the unprovoked assault made by Robert Williams on Valentine Dingle, but it was not then known how serious would be the results of the young man's drunken freak. Last Monday, about 9:30 p. m., Williams was going up Seventh street, and Dingle, a highly intoxicated man, who was on the street, set upon him. Williams, who was a member of the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad, was struck on the head by Dingle, and he fell to the ground. Dingle then struck Williams on the head with a brick, and he killed him. The inquest was held to-day, and it was found that Williams died from the effect of the blow administered by Dingle.

The Inquest.

At noon to-day Dr. Patterson, the Coroner, held an inquest at the residence of Mr. P. Church, the pastor, the Rev. James T. Lasee, opened the meeting with prayer, invoking the Divine blessing on the efforts of the organization to institute other means than war to adjust differences between nations. By request the secretary read the declaration of principles and preamble to the constitution of the league, which was adopted. The secretary then read a list of the names of the members of the league, which included many of the prominent citizens of the city. The meeting then adjourned.

LORD BALTIMORE DAY.

The Second Day of the Oriole Festival.

The second day of the Oriole Festival (Lord Baltimore day) was bright and pleasant, and the holiday was more general than Tuesday. All the principal streets were thronged with immense crowds. The celebration was commenced with a procession of the boys, who were dressed in their best, and they were followed by the girls, who were also dressed in their best. The procession then moved on to the harbor, where the steamers conveying Lord Baltimore and his family were waiting. The Lord Baltimore then addressed the crowd, and he spoke of the importance of the festival, and of the need for peace and harmony between the people.

The Courts.

THE COURT.—Justice Hager, McKenney, and F. B. O. were on the bench. The court heard the case of the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad against the City of Baltimore. The case was argued by the attorneys for both sides, and the court then rendered its decision. The court found in favor of the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad, and it ordered that the railroad should be allowed to use the streets of the city for its trains.
